

ZOO Animal Facts

Alligator	Alligators can go through 3,000 teeth in their lifetime.
Bison	Bison have really good hearing and smell but can't see very well.
Bear	Brown bears can eat 90 pounds of food in one day.
Otter	Otters have to clean themselves often with their teeth and paws in order for their coat to stay waterproof.
Elephant	An elephant's tusks never stop growing.
Owl	Owls do not have true eyeballs. Their eyes are completely immobile.
Hippo	A group of hippos is called a bloat.
Monkey	A howler monkey can be heard up to 3 miles away.
Lion	Female lions do the hunting whereas males protect the pride.
Zebra	Zebras are social animals and live in large herds.
Snake	Snakes smell with their tongue.
Red Panda	Red pandas spend most of their life in trees and are known for their acrobatic skills.
Gorilla	Gorillas have unique nose prints like humans have unique fingerprints.

ZOO Animal Facts

Turtle	Turtles have been around since the time of dinosaurs.
Wolf	Wolf pups are born blind and deaf.
Fox	A baby fox is called a kit.
Bat	Bats are important to the planet because they are pollinators just like butterflies and bees.
Tiger	No two tigers have the same stripe pattern.
Lizard	Some lizards can detach their tail in order to escape a predator.
Bird	The bones of many birds weigh less than their feathers.
Frog	The Goliath frog is the biggest frog in the world. It can weigh more than 7 lbs.
Giraffe	Giraffes get water from leaves so they only need to drink once every few days.
Rhino	Ox peckers often perch themselves on a Rhino's back.
Penguin	Male emperor penguins are responsible for keeping the eggs warm. They will go 2 months without food while they do so.
Flamingo	A baby flamingo is born white.